

UN Forces Begin Evacuation Of Pyongyang

China Red War To Go Before UN Assembly

Dulles Will Ask Main Committee To Clear Decks

FLUSHING, (UP)—The western powers agreed yesterday to put their Soviet-voiced demand for Chinese Communist withdrawal from Korea before the free United Nations General Assembly without delay.

The resolution will go on further toward countering Peking's aggression than did the six-power proposal vetoed in the Security Council Thursday by Russia's Jacob A. Malik.

An American spokesman said it will repeat assurances to Man Moting that his country's "primary interests will be respected, and will reaffirm that current UN policy rules out UN military action across the Manchurian border. But it will state that this may be lifted, so long as the Chinese Communists delay the

Chinese Call War All-Out Struggle

HONG KONG, Sunday (UP)—The Chinese Communists termed the Korean war an all-out "life and death struggle" today and called for nationwide military training of all youths between 17 and 25.

The nationwide call to arms appeared to shatter any hopes that the Communists would withdraw voluntarily from Korea. Peking added that the United Nations forces never would withdraw from Korea until they are soundly defeated.

Peking Radio broadcast an editorial from the official Communist organ, the Peking People's Daily News, which said the Chinese were not afraid of atomic bombs or American air-bombing.

U.S. Pushes

... bombs

Right side of the page contains text that is mostly illegible due to the image quality.

Many Wounded Yanks Burned Alive By Chinese

By CHARLES MOORE

NORTHEAST FRONT, Korea (UP)—Survivors of a Communist ambush said yesterday that fanatical Chinese burned wounded American prisoners alive and danced around the flames "like wild Indians" while the GIs screamed in pain.

Other men of the U. S. 7th Infantry Division said the Chinese threw some wounded soldiers into a highway and ran over them with bulldozers beyond others in the face and machine-gunned their flag of truce when they tried to surrender.

The 7th Division men made a bloody retreat down the east side of Chong Ri-yeon in northeastern Korea to Hwang in the southern tip. From there, U. S. Marines and Air Force pilots probably the greatest losses right in history flew 1,000 casualties to rear area hospitals.

One of the three survivors with whom I talked was Pl. Thompson Butler, 34, of Brown, Ill., of the 1st Battalion, 7th Infantry, who said he was captured about mid-

McCarthy Calls For Use Of China Nationalist Troops

WASHINGTON, (UP)—Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, R. Wis., said yesterday that Congress should impeach President Truman if he persists in refusing the aid of Chiang Kai-Shek's Chinese Nationalist troops in the Korean war.

It was the most bitter of the attacks McCarthy has made during the last year in favor of the Republic, which he said the

Chinese Hordes Swarm Through Central Korea

TOKYO, Sunday, (UP)— Outnumbered and battle-weary United Nations forces began an orderly evacuation of Pyongyang today as the enemy drove down both the east and west coasts.

A Communist guerrilla militia attack on the outskirts of the former enemy capital coincided with mounting underground activity inside the city. A U. S. spokesman said about 8,000 armed underground members in Pyongyang were expected to make a concerted move "at any time." Around the allied defense perimeter north and northeast of Pyongyang the UN forces braced for a new Communist assault.

"Backstage" Non-Possible In the eastern sector a possible "backstage" was in the offing as the Communists in central Korea swung a strong eastward thrust toward the top part of Wonsan, trying to break the last essential escape route for UN forces into the